1351	Muntons Docklands Porter All Malt Kit	6.6 lb Kit all malt recipe. (no sugar) At the end of the 19th century a beer was brewed especially for the dockyard workers of the bustling Port of London. Docklands Porter was named after these strong men, who unloaded the cargoes of sailing ships and schooners berthed at the many wharves along the Thames. Porter had a uniquely rich and satisfying flavour which quenched the thirst of dockers after long shifts loading and unloading vessels from around the world.	24.99
1352	Muntons Headcracker Pale Norfolk Ale	Makes 3.25 Gallons. 6.6 lb Kit all malt recipe. (no sugar) Aptly named, Woodforde's Headcracker is a pale, smooth yet deceptively strong barley wine. Its sweetness in the palate is perfectly balanced with with a distinct hoppiness and bitterness. With 7% abv, the taste of Headcracker is truly warming! This kit is designed to make 3.5 gallons of beer.	27.99
7 BrewFerm Kits
1501	BrewFerm Kriek	The well-known cherry beer with the equivalent of 3 kg of cherries in each kit. A slightly acidic but sweet and aromatic, red copper tinted with a nice aroma. Produces 12 liters at 5.5% alcohol. Packed with yeast & instructions. Requires an additional 1 lb. of dry malt extract. The first & only original Belgian beer kits. Packed with yeast & instructions.	29.99

1610	Brewmaster Selection Coopers Pilsner	A pale straw colored beer with a bold, spicy Saaz hop aroma. Crisp and dry with cleansing bitterness, Thomas Coopers Pilsener is made from premium 2- row pale malt and barley, bittering hops and a generous amount of aromatic SAAZ hops. Fermentation with the true lager yeast, supplied, at temperatures below 20C will produce an excellent example of the pilsener style.	17.99
1611	Brewmaster Selection Coopers IPA	Early records of "Cooper and Sons" producing India Pale Ale can be found in the South Australian Advertiser, dated February 1868. Thomas Coopers IPA (India Pale Ale) produces a beer with all the hallmarks of a genuine IPA from the "mother land". A strong ale with robust malt characters and very high hopping levels.	17.99
1612	Brewmaster Selection Coopers Irish Stout	A rich, dark brew displaying coffee, chocolate and licorice aromatics, roasty bitter notes with a dry finish. Thomas Coopers Irish Stout is an authentic recipe containing a blend of malted barley, roasted barley, flaked barley and hops. The pour will show a turbulent, cascading tan foaming action. Eventually, this settles into a creamy beige colored head that rests atop the beer.	17.99

8 Coopers Kits
1613	Brewmaster Selection Coopers Wheat	A pale, cloudy beer, refreshingly spritzzy and tart with a delicious creamy frothiness, Thomas Coopers Wheat Beer is made from premium malted wheat, pale malted barley and selected hops. Wheat beers are a great summer refresher, low in bitterness and considered by many as the champagne of the beer world.	17.99
1614	Brewmaster Selection Coopers English Bitter	The industrialisation of Britain in the early 1800s gave rise to the pale ale revolution. Subsequently, various styles of pale ale became available as brewers adjusted their brews to meet consumer taste. One such brew was Bitter. In keeping with this traditional style of pale ale, Coopers English Bitter is a brown copper colour with red hues and a creamy head. It displays a pleasing floral aroma with a blend of toasty/sweet malt flavours finishing with a firm bitter finish.	17.99
1615	Coopers European Lager	Europe is home to a multitude of breweries and as such- boasts a greater variety of beer styles than any other region in the world. Europe - being the birthplace of lager style beer- is considered to be the heartland of premium lager. Coopers European Lager captures the style of the finest quality lagers exported from Northern Europe . Serve well chilled in a tall- narrow glass with a generous head of 5cm or so and savour the herbaceous hop aroma and crisp finish.	17.99
1616	Coopers Canadian Blonde	Coopers Canadian Blonde is our first beer kit designed specifically to suit regional tastes. This light golden colored ale has the moderate hop character many North American beer drinkers favor.	17.99
1617	Coopers Mexican Cerveza	Mexico is known for its arid lands- dusty conditions and oppressive heat. So it's not surprising that the people of Mexico are expert at quenching a thirst. Coopers Mexican Cerveza (beer) emulates the style of the finest quality beers exported from Mexico. This premium beer is light in style with a fresh clean taste- ideally served ice-cold with a wedge of lime or lemon. Recommended to be used with Coopers Brew Enhancer 2 and Coopers Carbonation Drops. For best results we recommend using with the Coopers Brewery Micro Brewery Kit..	17.99

Recommended dosage: 5 tabs per 12 ounce bottle for high carbonation, 4 tabs for a normal carbonation, or 3 tabs for a light carbonation. This allows for better control in carbonating your bottles. Good for use with all bottle sizes. Ingredients: Dextrose, Spray-Dried Malt Extract, and Heading Powder (PGA). 250 tabs per bag. "	2.99
4311	Muntons Kreamyx	KreamyX contains 200g of a blend of spray dried malt extract, dextrose and heading agent which is simply added in place of priming sugar to any beer kit. The dextrose contains simple sugars which will encourage the rapid priming fermentation ensuring little opportunity for any contamination at the priming stage. The spray malt portion and heading agent of the KreamyX will improve head formation and head retention, overall flavour and increase the resultant body of the beer, making your beer more like the commercial equivalent. Muntons Beer Kit Enhancer is simple to use. Just follow the instructions provided on your beer kit substituting KreamyX where sugar is used at the priming stage. Try the new KreamyX and you will be amazed at the improvement in your final beer.	2.99
4314	5 Pounds of Clover Honey	5 Pounds of Chefs Choice Premium Clover Honey. (54 fluid Ounces) Clover honey has a pleasing, mild taste. Clovers contribute more to honey production in the United States than any other group of plants. Red clover- Alsike clover and the white and yellow sweet clovers are most important for honey production. Depending on the location and type of source clover- clover honey varies in color from water white to light amber to amber.	12.99
4315	5 Pounds of Wildflower Honey	5 Pounds of Chefs Choice Premium Wildflower Honey. (54 fluid Ounces) Wildflower honey is exactly what it sounds like. Derived from a variety of wildflowers and plants which are blooming during the summer months. It's a thicker honey and the taste varies from year to year based on what's in bloom. This honey has a delightful taste and is darker in color. Darker honey has more vitamins, minerals, and antioxidant properties compared to lighter honey.	12.99

F101	Coriander Seeds whole 1 oz	"Brewers Garder Specialty Herbs and Spices "Ancient Egyptian and Sanskrit texts document the use of coriander for more than 3,000 years. The Chinese once believed the herb conferred immortality and in the Middle Ages it was put into love potions as an aphrodisiac. Coriander is now widely used in specialty and Belgian style beers." "	1.99
F102	Elderberries whole 8 oz	For wine and specialty beers	8.29
F103	Juniper Berries whole 1 oz	"For wine and specialty beers. Usually known as the principal flavoring in gin, it is also used to flavor beer and other beverages. Native Americans have utilized juniper for its healing powers and to relieve arthritis. In folk lore, juniper planted outside a front door kept out witches who had to correctly count its needles before entering the house"	1.89
F104	Kardoman Seeds whole 41oz	"For wine and specialty beers Cardamom is a distinctive spice from the same family as ginger. Its flavor, which has been described as a spicy cola, combines well with coriander, cumin and orange, and often are all used together in specialty Belgian and Holiday Style beer"	1.49
F105	Sweet Orange Peel crushed 1 oz	"Brewers Garder Specialty Herbs and Spices. While a cousin to the Florida orange, this sweet variety will not give your beer a metallic taste like the domestic version. If you're familiar with the taste of Cointreau or Grand Marnier then you will be thrilled with the flavor that sweet orange peel can add to your Belgian style strong ales and special holiday brews. "	2.25
F107	Paradise Seeds 2 gr	"Brewers Garder Specialty Herbs and Spices. Also called Grains of paradise, Guinea grains and Melegueta pepper, these small seeds look like cardamom but have a character all their own. The spice is native to West Africa and during medieval times was used to flavor food. It has also been used as a pepper substitute. While it does have a peppery zing, it also has notes of citrus and an earthy pine aroma. "	0.99
F108	Sweet Gale 2 gr	"Brewers Garder Specialty Herbs and Spices. Also called Bog Myrtle and Badge of the Campbells, Sweet Gale is a deciduous shrub with fragrant wood and leaves found abundantly in the Northern Hemisphere especially in the Scottish moors and bogs. It has been used as a substitute for hops in Yorkshire in a beer named appropriately Gale Beer. The seeds and leaves have also been used in soups and stews, perfumes and candles. This is not surprisingly since it is in the same family as bayberry, which is a popular candle scent. Used as a tea infusion it has been known to ease stomach disorders. This relatively unknown herb is well suited for Holiday beers. "	0.99
F109	Bitter Orange Peel crushed 1 oz	"Brewers Garder Specialty Herbs and Spices. Also called Curacao orange peel, these green-gray peels are one of the most popular specialty herbs on the market. They are used commercially by domestic brewers to duplicate the beer styles that put Belgium on the brewing map. While not very bitter, they are a key ingredient in Belgian style white beers. "	2.25

F110	Elde Flowers whole 2 oz	"One of the Brewers Garden Line- elderflowers are used extensively in semi-dry red wines. These natural wonders are good for the outside as well as the inside. Elderflowers infused in creams have been used to soften skin, smooth wrinkles, fade freckles and soothe sunburn. They can be used on their own for making wine or can be added to elderberry wine to enhance flavor. On their own, they produce a wine compared to a muscatel. Hot elderflower tea, like chamomile, can make a soothing nightcap and is said to offer natural relief for the common cold."	3.59

23 Wyeast Liquid Yeast
5221	Wyeast 3724 Saison Yeast.	Aroma: High fruitiness with low to moderate hop aroma and moderate to no herb, spice and alcohol aroma. Fruity esters dominate the aroma and are often reminiscent of citrus fruits such as oranges or lemons. A low to medium spicy or floral hop aroma is usually present. A moderate spice aroma (from actual spice additions and/or yeast-derived phenols) complements the other aromatics. When phenolics are present they tend to be peppery rather than clove-like. A low to moderate sourness or acidity may be present, but should not overwhelm other characteristics. Spice, hop and sour aromatics typically increase with the strength of the beer. Alcohols are soft, spicy and low in intensity, and should not be hot or solventy. The malt character is light. No diacetyl. Appearance: Often a distinctive pale orange but may be golden or amber in color. There is no correlation between strength and color. Long-lasting, dense, rocky white head resulting in characteristic "Belgian lace" on the glass as it fades. Clarity is poor to good though haze is not unexpected in this type of unfiltered farmhouse beer. Effervescent. Flavor: Combination of fruity and spicy flavors supported by a soft malt character, a low to moderate alcohol presence and tart sourness. The fruitiness is frequently citrusy (orange- or lemon-like). The addition of one or more spices serve to add complexity. Low peppery yeast-derived phenols may be present instead of or in addition to spice additions. Hop flavor is low to moderate, and is generally spicy in character. Hop bitterness may be moderate to high, but should not overwhelm fruity esters, spices, and malt. Malt character is light but provides a sufficient background for the other flavors. A low to moderate tart sourness may be present, but should not overwhelm other flavors. Spices, hop bitterness and flavor, and sourness commonly increase with the strength of the beer while sweetness decreases. No hot alcohol or solventy character. Substantial carbonation and bitterness give a dry finish with a long, bitter, sometimes spicy aftertaste. No diacetyl. Mouthfeel: Light to medium body. Alcohol level can be medium to medium-high, though the warming character is low to medium. No hot alcohol or solventy character. Very high carbonation with an effervescent quality. There is enough prickly acidity on the tongue to balance the dry finish. A low to moderate tart character may be present but should be refreshing and not to the point of puckering. Overall Impression: A medium to strong ale with a distinctive yelloworange color, highly carbonated, well hopped, fruity and dry with a quenching acidity. History: A seasonal summer style produced in Wallonia, the Frenchspeaking part of Belgium. Originally brewed at the end of the cool season to last through the warmer months before refrigeration was common. It had to be sturdy enough to last for months but not too strong to be quenching and refreshing in the summer. It is now brewed year-round in tiny, artisanal breweries whose buildings reflect their origins as farmhouses. Comments: Varying strength examples exist (table beers of about 5% strength, typical export beers of about 6.5%, and stronger versions of 8%). Sweetness decreases and spice, hop and sour character increases with strength. Herb	4.79

		and spice additions often reflect the indigenous varieties available at the brewery. High carbonation helps bring out the many flavors and to increase the perception of a dry finish. All of these beers share somewhat higher levels of acidity than other Belgian styles while the optional sour flavor is often a variable house character of a particular brewery. Ingredients: Pilsner malt dominates the grist though a portion of Vienna and/or Munich malt contributes color and complexity. Adjuncts such as candi sugar and honey can also serve to add complexity and thin the body. Hop bitterness and flavor may be more noticeable than in many other Belgian styles. A saison is sometimes dry-hopped. Noble hops, Styrian or East Kent Goldings are commonly used. A wide variety of herbs and spices are generally used to add complexity and uniqueness in the stronger versions. Varying degrees of acidity and/or sourness can be created by the use of gypsum, acidulated malt, a sour mash or Lactobacillus. Hard water, common to most of Wallonia, can accentuate the bitterness and dry finish. 5304	Munton & Fison Gold 6gm	This yeast rehydrates at 20°C and therefore simply requires sprinkling onto the surface of your wort - no need to stir - and the yeast will rehydrate and activate within just a few hours. The yeast has excellent crusting characteristics forming a firm 'jelly like' deposit at the bottom of the fermenter and bottle or barrel. Flavour profile is excellent and the yeast has the ability to drop out of suspension very rapidly.	2.25
5401	Red Star Champagne 5gm	It is a strong fermenter with good ethanol tolerance. This strain is recommended for full bodied reds and whites. Pasteur Champagne is noted for low volatile acidity; good flavor complexity; and intense color	0.65
5402	Red Star Montrachet 5gm	Montrachet is noted for low volatile acidity; good flavor complexity; and intense color. It is a strong fermenter with good ethanol tolerance; and will readily ferment grape musts and fruit juices to dryness.	0.65
5404	Red Star Premier Cuvee 5gm	Recommended for reds; whites and especially champagne. This yeast is reported to perform well restarting stuck fermentations. Winemakers have remarked that Premier Cuvee is the fastest; cleanest; and most neutral fermenter offered by Red Star?.	0.65
5405	Red Star Cote des Blancs 5gm	This yeast requires nutrient addition for most chardonnay fermentations. Cte des Blancs produces fine; fruity aromas and may be controlled by lowering temperature to finish with some residual sugar. It is recommended for reds; whites; sparkling cuves an	0.65
5406	Nottingham Ale 11gm	Produces low concentrations of fruity and estery aromas and has been described as neutral for an ale yeast. Highly flocculent; relatively full attenuation.	1.19
5407	Lalvin K1-V1116 Red or White 5gm	Expresses freshness of white grape varieties. Natural fresh fruit aromas are retained for a longer time when compared with wines fermented with standard yeast strains (such as Prise de Mousse). ICV-K1 can withstand a wide range of fermentation temperature (10°C to 42°C) and tolerate alcohol up to 18%. ICV-K1 is recommended for the fermentation of ice wines. It can also be used for ros or basic red wines and nutrient poor fermentation conditions such as from concentrates or fruit purees .	0.85
5408	Lalvin 71B-1122 Longterm Reds 5gm	Known for making blush and semi-sweet wines with a 'fruit salad' character. Long-lived aromas are due to its production of esters and higher alcohols making it an excellent choice for many fruit based wines as well. 71B also softens high acid musts by par	0.85

5409	Lalvin EC-1118	The EC-1118 strain was isolated studied and selected from Champagne fermentations. Due to its competitive factor and ability to ferment equally well over a wide temperature range the EC-1118 is one of the most widely used yeasts in the world. OENOLOGICAL PROPERTIES AND APPLICATIONS The fermentation characteristics of the EC-1118 - extremely low production of foam volatile acid and H2S - make this strain an excellent choice. This strain ferments well over a very wide temperature range from 7ø to 35øC (45ø to 95øF) and demonstrates high osmotic and alcohol tolerance. Good flocculation with compact lees and a relatively neutral flavor and aroma contribution are also properties of the EC-1118. The EC-1118 strain is recommended for all types of wines including sparkling and late harvest wines and cider. It may also be used to restart stuck fermentations.	0.85
5450	Alcotec 24 Hour Turbo Yeast 205grams	A high alcohol & temperature tolerant dual function yeast complete with needed nutrients. Yields up to 14% alcohol in just 24 hours.	6.99
5301	Fermentis Safeale us-05	Recent testing at a major brewery compared both major brands of liquid yeast with our Fermentis Safeale us-05 dried yeast (result to be published soon). Dried yeasts were found to virtually identical in function and beers produced to the liquid varieties. The main virtue of liquid yeast remains the incredible breadth of available strains. However the best of the strains are in dried forms such as the Safeale us-05 popularly know as the "Chico" strain and the predominant strain used in the US craft brewing industry.	2.69
5410	Lalvin D-47	The D-47 yeast strain is a low-foaming quick fermenter that settles well- forming a compact lees at the end of fermentation. This strain tolerates fermentation temperatures ranging from 50§ to 86§ and enhances mouth-feel due to complex carbohydrates. Malolactic fermentation proceeds well in wine made with D-47. Recommended for making wines from white varieties such as Chardonnay and ros wines. An excellent choice for producing mead however be sure to supplement with yeast nutrients.	0.85

5406W	Windsor Ale 11gm	Windsor ale yeast originates in England. This yeast produces a beer which is estery to both palate and nose with a slight fresh yeasty flavor. These are usually described as full-bodied, fruity English ales. Depending on the substrate, the Windsor demonstrates moderate attenuation which will leave a relatively high gravity (density).	1.19
5300	Fermentis Lager	This is a true, bottom fermenting lager yeast originating from the famous VLB Institute in Germany. Produces continental-style lagers with a fruity estery note. The best flavour profile is produced when fermented at low temperatures (9 - 15øC) but still keeps it's crisp lager characteristics even at higher temperatures. Each packet contains 11grams	2.69

5420	Lalvin Bacchus Malolactic Bacteria	The role of malolactic fermentation (MLF) bacteria on wine quality has increased due to world winemaking trends to reduce the use of sulfur dioxide in the must and to make wines with lower acidity and greater complexity. Thus, the control of bacteria and malolactic fermentations aims to minimize the risks and maximize the positive contributions of a MLF. Lallemand has made malolactic bacteria cultures since the mid- 1980s to help winemakers control MLF. Bacchus consists of natural wine bacteria isolates selected from the Lallemand Oenococcus oeni culture collection in Saint-Simon, France. These concentrated and freeze-dried Bacchus malolactic bacteria cultures have been pre-acclimated to survive in a wide range of conditions when directly added to the wine. Bacchus is the culture of choice for many professional winemakers in red and white wines, where a positive contribution of complexity, mouthfeel and structure are desired while also respecting the varietal character. Bacchus provides a large population of malolactic bacteria for a timely and easy addition. These malolactic cultures are an ideal and economic tool to complete rapid MLF even when the wine pH is as low as 3.1, alcohol to 13.5% and the total SO2 is less than 20 ppm. For best results in volumes up to 23 L, add Bacchus immediately after the alcoholic fermentation is complete and the wine temperature is 18°-24°C (64°-75°F).	7.99

27 Fermenters and Buckets
7110	PET O-Ring Closure for Better Btl.	"PET O-Ring Closure Description ? Flexible stoppers and caps are the best solution for glass carboys because glass carboys have irregular necks. However the flexible materials used to make stoppers and caps are likely to: 1) harbor contamination; 2) impart or carry over flavors; 3) deteriorate when treated with sanitizing agents and 4) leak oxygen. Better-Bottle's rigid closure fits all sizes of Better-Bottle carboys and has none of the drawbacks of stoppers or caps. The closure is made of a special PET that can withstand continuous service at 100ø C (212ø F) and is hydrophobic and non-porous so it does not stain or take up flavors and is easy to clean and sanitize. Better-Bottle PET closure fittings include: a plain plug; 1/8" NPT threaded plugs equipped with 90ø(item 7111) and "T" (item 7112) hose barb adapters for 1/4" ID hose and a low-profile DryTrap? fermentation lock that requires no liquid. A plain plug is supplied with each PET closure. As a rule the hose barb fittings are used during racking so a given location may only require a few sets. The Better-Bottle PET closure will accept any 1/2" OD hose or fitting. If the diameter of the fitting is slightly under 1/2" as is the case for a popular three-part air lock a few turns of Teflon thread tape (available at hardware stores) should result in an excellent seal. Military grade Teflon thread tape is thicker and easier to use than commercial grade but either type will serve the purpose nicely.""	19.95

7112	"T" Adaptor for Better-Bottle Closure	Adaptor for using CO2 to push a siphon or bottling. For use with Better-Bottle PET Closure. For more information on this see: www.betterbottle.com/products_master.html	3.95
7113	DryTap Airlock (used with Better Bottle Bung)	"As the name implies- Better-Bottle DryTrap air locks are not liquid-filled- unlike other airlocks that require liquid and can evaporate. They are precision check valves made of an incredibly tough- proprietary type of PET that can withstand continuous service at 100ø C (212ø F) and does not stain or take up flavors. A polished ceramic ball rests in a tapered seat to create a one-way seal. Gases can escape easily by pushing the ball up and off the seat- but they are blocked from flowing in the reverse direction. DryTraps extend less than 5 cm (2") above the top of Better-Bottle carboys- so the bottles can easily slide onto shelves with a 56 cm (22") clearance and 4 levels of shelves can be installed against the wall in a room with a standard ceiling height. DryTraps are easy to clean and reassemble.""	9.99

63 Spagnols Em Primeur Kits
WE01	En Primeur Pinot Blanc	The Pinot Blanc grape thrives in the Columbia Valley and is protected by the Cascade Mountains. It thrives in dry summers and cold to arctic freezing winters. These factors come to play in creating a wine that is refreshingly fruity with zesty citrus and intense green apple notes. Light straw in colour- this medium bodied wine's softness makes it very enjoyable when young. Its no small wonder that this wine is gaining strong recognition in the New World	149.99
WE02	En Primeur Chardonnay	Abundant sunshine- a warm climate- lack of humidity and controlled irrigation allows growers in the Riverland wine region of Australia to produce consistently premium grapes. From Australia's largest wine producing region- we bring you our Australian Chardonnay. This supple- elegant wine boasts rich aromas of honey and tropical fruits while apples- melon and vanilla oak tantalise the palate.	149.99
WE03	En Primeur Merlot	The warm dry summers- moderate rainfall and stony ground in the Maipo Valley- provides a great microclimate for the Merlot grape. This medium bodied wine offers elevated succulent juicy berry flavours accentuated by delicate aroma notes of coffee and vanilla oak. Ruby red in colour- it boasts of velvety tannins and a long fulfilling fruity aftertaste.	149.99
WE04	En Primeur Shiraz	This rich red wine is robust and displays deep colours underlaid with delicious aromas of ripe cherries- plums and bitter chocolate. The concentration of berry fruits- silky tannins and spices wrap tightly together and blend into a seamlessly fine- lingering finish.	159.99
WE05	En Primeur Amarone	Blessed with abundant sunlight- the terraces and valley floors in the Veneto region provide an encouraging home to the Corvina - Rondinella and Molinara grapes. Deep garnet in colour- this is an assertively full-bodied wine with a delectable nose of black cherries- dark chocolate and oak. On the palate it offers opulent dark fruit flavours cradled by firm tannins culminating in an almost endless finish.	149.99

B101	Extreme Brewing (Sam Calagione)	Extreme Brewing is author and brewer Sam Calagione's instructive and engaging tell-all on brewing one-of-a-kind craft beers. Calagione is the founder and president of Dogfish Head Craft Brewery, one of the fastest growing independent breweries in the United States, which has built a reputation for creating extraordinarily bold and daring beers. For this thriving homebrew audience, Calagione offers this stunning 176 page, recipe-driven resource. Aspiring brewers who are interested in recreating specialty beers, but don't have the time to learn the in-depth science behind home-brewing are presented with a host of primarily malt-syrup based (the simplest brewing method) recipes, plus Calagione's detailed instructions for partial-grain brewing variations. While recipes are included for classic ales and lagers, Extreme Brewing emphasizes the hybrid styles that have helped put his Dogfish Head's beers on the map. Using fruit, vegetables, herbs and spices, readers can create their own unique flavor combinations for truly world-class beers.	24.95

PX11	Perfect Pickler	"The Perfect Pickler; a newfangled kitchen appliance produces old-world pickles right on your kitchen counter in only four days! Unlike the open-air crocks. The Perfect Pickler is a closed system--there are no smells or additional chores during the pickling. Unlike the traditional open air crock method. the Perfect Pickler transforms vegetables into tasty pickles in only 4 days not the weeks of fermenting in crocks. Start a batch on Monday watch the magic bubbles through the week start eating by Friday! These are the live. tangy pickles and sauerkraut our ancestors used to make. The prep time is minimum; no need to 'put up' a whole crop of vegetables at once. Once pickling is complete. pop them in the refrigerator. Not the pantry. They are live-cultured and will continue to stay fresh for months to come. The long lived peoples of the world share this secret of daily doses of live-cultured foods. And they gladly share it with you! Today's commercial picklers take the life out of your pickles! The active cultures that transform cucumbers into pickles are destroyed in the canning process. When Grandma's pickles were handmade they came alive with these friendly micro flora - the one and same that make other cultured foods like yogurt and cheese. And these cultures reside in everyone's digestive tract helping to digest your food. Maintain and tone your intestines. They even make extra vitamins and their own natural antibiotics as well as other life supportive functions. The Perfect Pickler can bring you faultless live-cultured pickles in just four days! Mouth-puckering beauties can be readied with just 5 to 10 minutes of preparation time. Make gorgeous sauerkraut gingery vegetables dill pickels sweet onion pickles. Watch them bubble into magnificent live-cultured great tasting pickles in the Perfect Pickler! The modern pickles we regularly buy are usually preserved with distilled denatured vinegar and contain refined sugars. The Perfect Pickler uses a low salt fermentation method that uses just a little quality sea salt spring water vegetables spices and herbs. ""	19.95
